Protecting your Personal Information

Don't fall victim to fraud. There are many scams being used by fraudsters in an attempt to gain your personal information and access your account. Take special caution if any request seems out of the ordinary or you are asked to disclose sensitive identification information. We will never ask you to verify your member number, full Social Security number, Debit/Credit Card number, PIN or any other sensitive personal financial information via email, pop-up window or text message. We recommend you never provide this information elsewhere unless you have specifically initiated such contact.

Guard yourself against phishing scams which try to get you to provide personal or financial information to a person or business claiming to be legitimate. Most phishing scams are conducted through email, with messages containing links that ask for your personal data or download spyware to your computer or mobile device. If a message looks suspicious at all don't click the link.

Keeping your Information Updated with Us

Help us help you. Please make sure you don't forget to update your information with the credit union anytime you move, get a new phone number, or have other changes that need attention such as:

- Address changes
- Beneficiary additions or changes
- Trust account updates
- Joint members/accontholders additions or changes
- Cell phone numbers
- Email address

Also, keeping your information up to date for your debit and credit card will assist the fraud department if they need to contact you regarding suspicious activity and help us contact you as well to review transactions.

If you need to make changes to your account, please contact us for assistance.
